Independent Study Packet

5 MORE Days of Independent Activities in Reading, Writing, and Math

Helpful Hints for Students and Families

Materials You Will Need:

- Pencils
- Extra paper or a notebook/journal (everything can go in one place)
- You will need colored pencils, markers, or crayons for some of the activities.
- Poster board and metal brad for a mood meter (alternatively, just use paper)
- Plastic bottle, glitter, glue, and food coloring for a calm down bottle

Directions & Tips

- You may complete the activities in any order.
- Check off each of the activities when you finish them on the menu.
- Make sure an adult signs the activity menu before you bring it back to school.

Reading Log

1. Read a book by yourself or with a grown-up.
2. Put your name and the title of the book at the top of a new page.
3. Choose one of the ideas and write one or two sentences about your book. Remember, not all of the questions make sense for every book.
4. Don't forget to tell why or how you know, or both if you can!

How did the story end?	Who is your favorite character? 	Is this book like any other book you have read? Which one?
How does the main character feel in this book?	Which words in the book were tricky?	Where does the story take place (the setting)?
What is your favorite part of the story? 	What is the big problem in the story? How is it solved?	What did you learn from reading this book?
What friend or family member might like this book?	When does the story take place (the setting)?	At the end, did any characters change from how they felt at the beginning?
What is your favorite picture in the book?	What did the author want you to learn?	What surprised you in the book?

Day 1

Reading	Read for 15 minutes and complete your reading log.
Writing	Write your Daily News.
Literacy	Find the describing words.
SEL	Learn about some different kinds of emotions we can feel.
Math	Complete the addition and subtraction problems to create the path through the puzzle.

At-Home Mood Meters

Emotions are always changing and this mood meter can be a great tool to use to be aware of how you may be feeling at any time of the day.

Draw or list as many emotions that you can think of below:

Match the words to each face and emotion below:

Silly

Happy

Angry

Tired

At-Home Mood Meters

Using your materials and poster board:

- On the top of your poster, write a title (or get an adult's help to write a title) such as, "In this moment, I feel..."
- Make a large half-circle with your compass centered in the middle of your poster.
- Divide the half-circle in half again using the ruler and then divide each half once more. (You will have created four parts or "slices.")
- Use each color of the construction paper—blue, green, yellow, and red—to match each slice. (You may also color in each part if you do not have construction paper.)
- Glue the colors from left to right in each section: blue, green, yellow, red.
- Write on the first section of blue: sad, sick, tired, lonely, bored.
- For the green, write the following: happy, calm, feeling good, ready to learn, and focused.
- In the yellow zone section, write the following: upset, worried, frustrated, silly, and excited.
- Write in the final red section: mad, mean, scared, unsafe.
- Cut out a 6-inch-long arrow (or get a caring adult's help to do this).
- Attach the arrow to the poster board with the metal fastener.
- You may draw faces or glue faces on each section to match the feeling or mood.
- Place your mood meter in your home to use whenever the time seems appropriate.
- Parents or caring adults: Ask your child to notice how they are feeling and to talk about it using the phrases, "I feel bored," or "I feel happy." Remind them that it is okay to be feeling whatever they may be feeling and to notice how it feels in their body.

Kindness Bear Puppet

Make a Family Gratitude Jar

The power of gratitude is endless! Research shows that practicing gratitude can strengthen relationships, improve physical and emotional well-being, deepen empathy skills, and improve self-esteem. With such wide-spread benefits, how can we create our own gratitude practice at home with children? First, define gratitude to your children. Then, have them fill out notecards with examples of what they are thankful for. Ideal for preschool through second grade learners, here is an easy to use daily activity your whole family will enjoy!

What You Need:

- The Thankful Book by Todd Parr or similar book about gratitude
- Empty container (e.g., a recycled glass jar or small box)
- Markers or crayons
- Notecards
- Decorating supplies such as: glue, glitter glue, stickers, paint

What You Do:

1. Begin with a discussion about gratitude. For younger kids, a great way to start is by reading aloud a picture book such as The Thankful Book by Todd Parr. As you read, pause to ask your child open-ended questions such as, "What do you see on this page? Why do you think they are grateful for ___?"
2. Define gratitude for your child as, "Gratitude is a feeling of thankfulness and appreciation." Share something that you are thankful for, then ask, "What is one thing you are thankful for?"
3. Explain that today you are going to work together to make a Gratitude Jar, a place where you will write down things you are thankful for everyday.
4. Show your child the materials and model different ways they might decorate their jar such as painting, adding stickers, using glitter glue, etc.
5. Provide time for your child to use the materials to decorate the jar, giving assistance as needed.
6. Choose a consistent time each day to sit down as a family and each identify one thing to be grateful for each day. It can be helpful to use a sentence frame such as "I am thankful for _____ today."
7. Create a nonjudgmental space as you share. Whatever you think of goes. This might mean your child is thankful for chocolate chip cookies one day, and that's okay! The act of identifying things you are grateful for will provide a nurturing space for your whole family to identify both big and small things.
8. Use a notecard to write down what you are thankful for. For younger children, have them dictate to you while you write it down, and encourage them to draw a picture. For beginning writers, create a sentence starter that says, "I am thankful for _____." Then, have them fill in the blank.
9. Read through the slips in your gratitude jar when the jar is full or when you need a pick-me-up. This is a great way to help your child remember all of the positive things in their life.

Once the gratitude jar becomes a part of your day-to-day routine, think about how you might extend the experience. Perhaps you ask your child to think about a particular person or part of the natural world that they are grateful for. Encourage the whole family to get creative in ways to share their gratitude with others—can you make thank you cards for friends, family members, or teachers? Perhaps you decide to volunteer at a local animal shelter or food bank. However you choose to share—gratitude will grow and grow!
