Jane Goodall was born in London, England in 1934. As a child, she loved animals. She was curious about animals. She spent hours watching the animals in her backyard to learn about them. Jane dreamed of traveling to the continent of Africa. She wanted to learn all about animals. When Jane was 22 years old she traveled to Kenya. There she met and was hired by Dr. Louis Leakey, an archaeologist and paleontologist. She was sent to Gombe Stream National Park in Tanzania to learn about chimpanzees.

Dr. Louis Leakey asked Jane to observe a group of chimpanzees to learn about their behaviors. At first the chimpanzees were very shy, but later Jane was able to observe them closely. She learned that chimpanzees use tools, just like people! She made many other important discoveries about chimpanzees at Gombe. She wrote her first book called The Chimpanzees of Gombe: Patterns of Behavior to share what she learned. Jane wrote many books and became an animal conservationist. A conservationist is someone who works to preserve natural resources and environments. She helps to save chimpanzees around the world through research and education.

Build a Recycled Box City

Who says you have to buy your toys at the toy store? In this activity, you can plan and build a pretend play city entirely out of recycled materials. You'll save money on toys, and help the environment, too! Kids put on many different hats as they build, playing city planner, architect, engineer, and even construction worker all in one activity.

What You Need:

- Several cardboard boxes in various sizes such as cereal or cracker boxes, shoe boxes, jewelry boxes, etc.
- Large piece of cardboard reused from a moving or appliance box
- Cardboard paper towel and toilet paper tubes
- Clear drying, non-toxic glue
- Tape
- Scissors
- Ruler
- Pencil
- Markers
- Drawing paper
- Old newspapers, magazines, and other paper scraps
- Tempera paints and paint brushes (optional)

What You Do:

1. Start by creating a city plan. Help your child brainstorm ideas. What type of city is it, and how large will it be? Do they want to create one street, one block, or more? Have them sketch out their ideas.
2. Once their city is planned out, it's time to play architect. Does your child know what an architect does? Ask them to design their buildings by drawing up blueprints using the drawing paper, pencil, and a ruler. As they draw, talk about form and function and how math factors into building design. If you like, you can even try creating your buildings to scale using the ruler (1 inch could equal 1 foot, for example).
3. On the large sheet of cardboard, have your child mark where their town's buildings and other features (like streets, trees, parks, etc.) will go.
4. Now it's time to build. Ask your child to choose boxes that best fit the buildings they want to make. Have them cut out windows and doors and add decorations or signs with pieces of newspaper or magazines. Finish the buildings by painting them with tempera paint, if using.
5. Add other city features such as bus stops, trees, or street signs using the paper towel tubes and extra pieces of cardboard.
6. Have your child use markers or paint to draw small details such as lines on the roads or sidewalk seams and any other finishing touches.

Community Mobile

Sometimes we can feel lonely and isolated. At these times, we can remember the importance of being connected to others and living in a community. In this social emotional learning activity, you and your child will read a story and create a community mobile that describes aspects of healthy relationships (such as listening, gratitude, appreciation, teamwork, etc.) in order to explore with it means to live in a supportive community.

What You Need:

- Creating a Community Story & Mobile worksheet
- Pencils
- Crayons
- Scissors
- Markers
- String or ribbon
- Hanger
- Stapler or glue
- OPTIONAL BOOK: Community Soup by Alma Fullerton, or another book about communities

What You Do:

1. Ask your child what the word "community" means to them.
2. Read the book Community Soup, and ask your child to notice the different aspects that make up this Kenyan community.
3. Ask, "How do the characters support each other when there is trouble?"
4. After reading the story, ask your child again what community means to them. Ask them to connect their response to themes from the story (togetherness, sharing talents, helping each other, belonging, care, listening to all, love, freedom, respect, mindfulness).
5. Ask your child, "How can mindfulness (paying careful attention to what is happening in the moment) be helpful in community? How does this help us?"
6. Work with your child to complete the Creating a Community Story & Mobile worksheet. Use this as a guide when creating your child's community mobile.
7. After creating the mobile, brainstorm with your child different ways they can bring these things into their home life and community.
8. Ask your child some reflection questions: "Why is it important to care for others? Speak kindly to others? Hear all voices? Respect and listen to others (friends, family, teachers)? How can this help us? Help others? Help our community?"
9. Find a place in your home with your child to hang the mobile as a reminder of the different parts of community.

Creating a Community Story and Mobile

Instructions: After reading through Community Soup by Alma Fullerton, think about words that remind you of community (support, listening, sharing gifts, mindfulness, love, etc.) Write down the words in the circles below. Then, follow the directions to create your Community Mobile.

1

Write, draw, cut. After you write the words on one side of each circle, illustrate each word by drawing a picture on the other side. Then, cut out each circle for your mobile.

2

Cut lengths of string or ribbon for each shape. You should have eight lengths of string, one for each shape, and each piece of string should be slightly different in size from the others.

* As an estimate, make one piece of string 1 foot (30 cm) long and each additional piece 2 inches (5 cm) longer or shorter.

* You can use yarn, twine, fishing wire, ribbon, thread, or any other string for this step. Thicker options, like yarn and ribbon, might last longer.

3

Staple your shapes to the string. Center each piece of string on the top center of one shape. Staple in place.

* Alternatively, you can punch holes into each shape using a metal hole puncher. If using this approach, tie the string through the holes instead of stapling it on.

4

On construction paper the size of your hanger, write the word "Community". Glue and place the construction paper over the clothes hanger to title your mobile.

5

Tie each ribbon from each circle onto the hanger, so that your circles that display images of community hang freely.

6

Hang
your mobile!

Life cycle of a Plant

Plants are living organisms. They use light from the sun to make their own food in the form of a sugar called glucose. This process is called photosynthesis. Plants also get nutrients from the soil through their roots. They breathe in carbon dioxide and they breathe out oxygen.

Life Cycle of a Plant

A plant starts out as a seed buried in the ground. As water falls on the seed and the sun warms it, its hard shell opens and it starts to grow out its roots. As the plant grows, its stem bursts through the soil. Then, leaves start to grow out of the stem. As the plant gets bigger it will begin to grow buds, which later sprout into flowers, and sometimes those flowers turn into fruit! As bees feed on the nectar, they pollinate the plants, allowing more seeds to be made and scattered to grow again.

WHAT GROWS AROUND US!

PLANT RESOURCES

Plants are natural resources that people and animals use. Below are examples. Write down more examples and draw a picture of your favorite one.

Cotton plants provide material for clothing.

Bamboo provides flooring material for houses.

Flowers provide bees with nectar that they make into honey and we use honey to sweeten our food.

Trees are ground into pulp to make paper.

How Do Apples Grow?

Some apple trees will grow over 40 feet high and live over 100 years!

CUT OUT THE PIECES AND PUT THEM IN ORDER OF GROWTH

Plants Form Water

Grade Level: 1st – 3rd; Type: Botany

Objective:

To demonstrate that plants give off water.

Research Questions

- Do plants produce water that can be consumed by people?
- How do plants produce water?

The leaves of plants contain small pores called stomates. During the process of photosynthesis, plants give off water through the stomates in their leaves. This water can be collected and consumed in a survival situation.

Materials:

- potted plant
- sandwich-size plastic bag
- string

Experimental Procedure:

1. Gather the necessary materials.
2. Carefully cover a leaf of the plant with the small plastic bag. Secure the bag with the string being careful to not close too tightly.
3. Be sure the soil of the plant is moist. Place the plant in a partly sunny window. Wait one hour.
4. After one hour, check the plastic bag on the leaf. Record the results.
5. Continue checking the plastic bag on the leaf every hour for five hours. Record the results.
6. At the end of the 5 hours, sample the water. Record your conclusion.

Terms/Concepts:

Transpiration: the process by which plants produce water through their leaves

Photosynthesis: the process of plants using carbon dioxide and water and light absorbed by chlorophyll; a plant uses sunlight and carbon dioxide from the air to produce food. It also produces water.
