The Bear and the Bees

A bear came across a log where a swarm of bees had nested to make their home. As he snooped around, a single little bee flew out of the log to protect the nest. Knowing that the bear would eat all the honey, the little bee stung him sharply on the nose and flew back into the log. This flew the bear into an angry rage. He swatted at the log with his big claws, determined to destroy the nest of bees inside. This only alerted the bees and quick as a wink, the entire swarm of bees flew out of the log and began to sting the bear from head to heel. The bear saved himself by running to and diving into the nearest pond.

Certificate of Completion

Fill in the periods at the end of each sentence.

The Sun and the Wind

The wind and the sun argued one day over which one was the stronger. Spotting a man traveling on the road, they made a challenge to see which one could take the coat from the man's back the quickest.

The wind began. He blew strong gusts of air, so strong that the man could barely walk against them. But the man clutched his coat tight against him. The wind blew harder and longer, and the harder the wind blew, the tighter the man held his coat against him. The wind blew until he was exhausted, but he could not remove the coat from the man's back.

It was now the sun's turn. He gently sent his beams upon the traveler. The sun did very little, but quietly shone upon his head and back until the man became so warm that he took off his coat and headed for the nearest shade.

The Cat and the Rooster

One day a cat happened to grab hold of rooster for its evening meal. She wanted, however, a good excuse for killing the bird.

I need to rid the world of you, she told the rooster, You constantly make your horrible noises throughout the night, interfering with men's much needed sleep. The world will be better off without you.

No, said the rooster, I crow for the good of men. I wake them up each morning when it is time for them to start work for the day, so that they may earn their living.

Ridiculous! said the cat, and she ate him.

Fill in the periods at the end of each sentence.

The Boy Who Cried Wolf

There once was a boy who kept sheep not far from the village. He would often become bored and to amuse himself he would call out, "Wolf! Wolf," although there was no wolf around.

The villagers would stop what they were doing and run to save the sheep from the wolf's jaw. Once they arrived at the pasture, the boy just laughed. The naughty boy played this joke over and over until the villagers tired of him.

One day while the boy was watching the sheep, a wolf did come into the fold. The boy cried and cried, "Wolf! Wolf!"

No one came. The wolf had a feast of sheep that day.

The Goose that Laid the Golden Egg

A man and his wife owned a very special goose. Every day the goose would lay a golden egg, which made the couple very rich.

Just think, said the man's wife, If we could have all the golden eggs that are inside the goose, we could be richer much faster.

You're right, said her husband,

We wouldn't have to wait for the goose to lay her egg every day.

So, the couple killed the goose and cut her open, only to find that she was just like every other goose. She had no golden eggs inside of her at all, and they had no more golden eggs.

The End

Fill in the missing quotation marks.

The Peacock's Complaint

A peacock was very unhappy with his ugly voice, and he spent most of his days complaining about it.

It is true that you cannot sing, said the fox, But look how beautiful you are!

Oh, but what good is all this beauty, moaned the disheartened bird, with such an unpleasant voice!

Listen, said the fox, Each one has it's special gift. You have such beauty, the nightingale has his song, the owl has his eyes, and the eagle his strength. Even if you had a eloquent voice, you would still complain about another thing.

The End

Fill in the missing commas and periods.

The Wolf and the Goat

A wolf who was out searching for a meal saw a goat feeding on grass on top of a high cliff. Wishing to get the goat to climb down from the rock and into his grasp, he called out to her.

"Excuse me," he said in a friendly voice. "It is very dangerous for you to be at such a height. Do come down before you injure yourself. Besides, the grass is much greener and thicker down here. Take my advice and please come down from that high cliff."

But the goat knew too well of the wolf's intent.

"You don't care if I injure myself or not. You don't care if I eat good grass or bad. What you care about is eating me."

The Donkey and his Master

A man was leading his donkey down a road when the donkey got free and ran to the edge of high cliff The man ran as fast as he could to the donkey and grabbed his tail to stop the donkey from going off the edge of the cliff But the donkey was stubborn; the more the man tried to stop him the more the donkey pulled the other way

"Oh well " said the man "if you are determined to go your own way I cannot stop you "

The Fox and the Crow

A fox was walking through the forest when he saw a crow sitting on a tree branch with a fine piece of cheese in her beak. The fox wanted the cheese and decided he would be clever enough to outwit the bird.

What a noble and gracious bird I see in the tree! proclaimed the fox, What exquisite beauty! What fair plumage! If her voice is as lovely as her beauty, she would no doubt be the jewel of all birds.

The crow was so flattered by all this talk that she opened her beak and gave a cry to show the fox her voice.

Caw! Caw! she cried, as the cheese dropped to the ground for the fox to grab.

The End

Fill in the missing periods and quotation marks.

The Boys and the Frogs

Some boys were playing around a pond when they spotted a group of frogs hopping and swimming about in the water. The boys began to throw rocks at the frogs and even competed against each other as to who could hit the most frogs. Sometimes the rocks hit the frogs so hard that they died.

Finally one frog hopped upon a lily pad.

"Please stop," he pleaded, "What may seem just fun to you is death to us."
