

Apostrophes

Add the apostrophes to the scary story where they are needed.

It was All Hallows' Eve. The evening air was crisp and cold. Amy was carving a pumpkin she had just picked up on her field trip. Amy's pumpkin was perfectly round and bright orange. Amy was very focused as she carved her pumpkin. She didn't pay attention to anything else. She had a very unique feeling about this pumpkin. Amy wasn't sure what it was, but she knew this pumpkin was special. As soon as she finished the last details on her pumpkin, she ran to get a candle. Amy's pumpkin was perfect! She lit the candle and put it inside the pumpkin's carved body. The moment Amy covered her pumpkin back up, the pumpkin began to whirl around. After a few seconds of the pumpkin twisting and sparkling, it came to life! Amy couldn't believe her eyes as the pumpkin danced around the room. The pumpkin stopped and yelled: "Happy Halloween!" and then jumped right out the window.

