

INTRODUCTORY CLAUSES, PHRASES & WORDS

An introductory segment in a sentence can be short or long, but regardless, must include a comma after it. Look at the example below and fix the sentences by adding a comma after each introductory clause, phrase or word.

EXAMPLE

After the movie , we will go out for something to eat.

COMMA

INTRO. CLAUSE

YOU TRY

Place a comma after each introductory clause in the sentences below.

1. Before dinner , you should wash your dirty hands.
2. No , I will not be going to the prom tomorrow night.
3. Having finished his job , Fred went straight home.
4. If you find yourself lost , stay in the same spot to get found.
5. When school begins , I will focus on getting good grades.
6. Because of the drought , no cherries grew on the tree.
7. Yes , I would like a side of potatoes.
8. Before father gets home , you should have already cleaned your room.
9. When the sun comes out , we will go play golf.
10. No thank you , I'd rather skip the scary movie.

