

Verb Tenses: Make a Splash!

Sonny is having tons of fun at summer swim camp. He wants to write a letter to his parents telling them all about it, but he keeps confusing what happened at camp yesterday with what's going on right now, and what might happen tomorrow. Help him out by sorting the sentences in his letter into the past, present, and future.

Directions: Cut out the sentences at the bottom of the paper. Glue them into the column they belong in: past, present, and future.

Past	Present	Future
I swam all the way across the pond in the guppy race and came in second place.	I sit by the creek while everyone swims.	I will practice diving off the high dive.
My friend Dave did a cannonball into the pool and got everyone wet!	My toes are in the water even though it is ice cold.	I will try synchronized swimming tomorrow!
I learned how to hold my breath while diving to the bottom of the pool.
