Meet Tennyson the Turtle.

He enjoys using metaphors and similes when telling tales.

A metaphor is a figure of speech that compares two things that are not actually alike.

Metaphors compare things by saying something is something else.

Example: Tennyson's eyes are pitch black pebbles.

A simile is a figure of speech that compares two unlike things by using the words like or as. Example: Tennyson's eyes are like pitch black pebbles.

Write the examples you find of each on the lines below the story.

My home, a moss covered rock, is an emerald fortress. It provides shelter from the heavy springtime showers, when the raindrops are like large iridescent pearls. My rock is neighbors with a weeping willow tree. Its branches are thick snakes, but to the children who come to swim from town, the willow is a majestic pirate ship. I peek my head between the daisies to watch the kids in brightly colored swimsuits plunge into the pool from the tips of the willow's branches. The water's surface is like a shattered mirror. A frenzy of ripples take over the pond, and the lily pads twirl like dancers who suddenly have the mad desire to switch partners. I fancy the idea of surfing the pond's wild waves one day!
