Answers Pronouns & Point of View

A pronoun is a word that replaces a noun or a noun phrase. They help our writing sound smooth and less repetitive. They also tell what point of view a story is written from.

First Person Point of View A character is telling the story. The character is in the story and is experiencing the action.	Third Person Point of View A narrator is telling the story. The narrator is not in the story, but is telling what is happening.
 I we   me our   my us   myself ourselves 	 him/her they   he/she their   his/hers them   it/its themselves

Directions: Circle the pronoun in each sentence. Then tell whether it is written in the first person or third person point of view.
