

Punctuation

Endings for Sentences

Sentences must have a punctuation mark at the end. Most standard sentences end with a period, questions end with a question mark and exclamations, or excited sentences, end with an exclamation point.

Examples:

Tommy completed his homework yesterday.

Has Tommy completed his homework yet?

Hooray, Tommy finished!

Put the correct punctuation mark at the end of each sentence.

The owl attacked the mouse in the field ●

Did you see Carla today ?

Run for your life !

History is my favorite subject ●

What is Jeremy's middle name ?

Melanie went home after lunch ●

Hurry up, we're late !

Who do you walk to school with ?

Watch out for the car !

She carried the baby downstairs ●