Wild and Wonderful Alliteration

Alliteration is a stylistic device writers use by repeating the beginning consonant sound in a group of closely connected words.

Example: Peter picked a peck of pickled peppers.

Read the following sentences. Circle the alliteration.

1. My murky mess of mud is very nice.
2. I have a bookshelf full of broken books.
3. I see slimy slinking snakes in the grass.
4. The forest has furry friends inside.
5. Do you hear the cookies crunching in the cold air?

Use the lines below to write your own sentences using alliteration!
