

Analyzing Story Illustrations

Directions: First, look at this illustration without reading the text and answer questions one and two. Then, read the text and answers questions three and four. Write using declarative sentences. Reminder: declarative sentences declare, or state something, and always end with a period.

This is Gulliver. He's an explorer sailing on his ship, the Adventure. In his travels he meets a variety of people, some very big and some very small. Not all of his encounters are very pleasant, as he often gets himself into troublesome situations. However, with a little quick thinking, he always finds a way to escape!

1. What is going on in this illustration?
2. What do you see that makes you say that? Write and/or draw specific examples from the illustration.
3. What words or phrases in the text help you understand the illustration?
4. What extra details in the illustrations do you see that are not in the text?	