

Let's Label It!!

Our newly discovered island is full of exciting new objects. Now that we know what is living, and what is not, we should help others learn too.

Cut the labels out along the dotted lines. Have your grown-up help cut pieces of tape. Find items that are living and items that are non-living in your house. Place the correct label on these items. Tell your grown-up or other family members why they are living or non-living.
