

DIRECTIONS: Circle the author's name. Circle the illustrator's name.

The author is the person who writes the story. He or she develops the characters (people in the story) and the plot (what will happen during the story). On the book cover, the author's name might be located under the title (name of the book) or above.

The illustrator is the person who makes the pictures for the story.

On the book cover, the illustrator's name might be located under the title (name of the book) or above.

Sometimes, the author has illustrated the book, too.
