

Endangered Species

Baird's Tapir

Tapirus bairdii

Central & South
America

The tapir is threatened primarily by habitat destruction and localized hunting. Tapirs only have one baby at a time. The young offspring will usually spend up to two years with its mother.