

The Characters

There are usually two kinds of characters in a book:

MAIN CHARACTERS: The characters who show up the most in the story. These are usually the characters that the book is “about.” In most books there is only one main character, but sometimes there are two or three!

SUPPORTING CHARACTERS: These characters only show up occasionally, but they are often very important to the story.

Who is the main character in your book? Draw a picture of him or her below.

Pick three adjectives to describe the main character in your book.

Now, pick two supporting characters and draw pictures of them. In some books, there are several supporting characters!

Pick three adjectives to describe each supporting character.
