

George Washington

Design a Monument

A monument is a sculpture or a building that helps people remember an important person or event. George Washington has a monument in Washington, D.C. It looks like this.

Design your own monument for George Washington. Draw a detailed picture of your monument, and explain why you chose the design for your monument. Think about what you want people to remember most about George Washington when they see your monument.

When people see my monument, they will remember that George Washington was _____
