Design Your Own
"I Voted" State Sticker

Designed to be a badge of honor, "I Voted" stickers have become a symbol of voting. The stickers became popular in the 1980s when people were trying to increase voter turnout. After casting their ballot, voters would get an "I Voted" sticker to help motivate others to vote as well. Spice up the "I Voted" sticker by designing your own, inspired by the history of your state!

This "I Voted" sticker has bluebonnets and a mockingbird, which are common in Texas.

Directions: Design your own "I Voted" sticker. Use the traditional "I voted" phrase in whatever language you choose (for example, "Yo voté!"). Make sure to add a symbol or idea from your state in the design.
