

SOME OF AMERICA'S MOST INFLUENTIAL AND FAMOUS IMMIGRANTS

The immigration boom of the late 1800s and early 1900s gave us some of the most influential Americans! See if you can match these eight famous immigrants with their accomplishments.

HINT: Names were sometimes changed at immigration centers due to communication issues, or immigrants changed them by choice upon arriving in America. Look for clues in the descriptions to match with the names on the left.

1. Isaac Asimov

2. Albert Einstein

3. John Muir

4. Joseph Pulitzer

5. Harry Houdini

6. Cary Grant

7. Irving Berlin

8. Max Factor

A. Born in Russia, he was processed at Ellis Island under the name Israel Baline in 1893. He wrote some of the most famous American songs.

B. Archibald Alexander Leach arrived in 1920 from England. One of the most well-known actors in Hollywood, he was known for his good looks and suave charm.

C. Originally named Erik Weisz, this famous magician came with his family from Hungary in 1878.

D. He arrived in 1923 from Russia as Isaak Yudovich Ozimov. He went on to write some of the most famous science fiction stories in history.

E. He came from Scotland in 1849. He went on to study nature and became a forest conservationist. The founder of The Sierra Club, he's often considered the father of the modern-day environmental movement.

F. He arrived in Boston from Hungary in 1864 under the name Pulitzer József. He became a famous journalist. Every year, awards named after him are given out to writers, photographers and artists.

G. This man, born Maksymilian Faktorowicz, came through Ellis Island from Poland. He was a Hollywood make-up artist who started one of the most famous cosmetics companies in history.

H. A famous scientist, he moved to the United States in the 1930s. As a Jewish man, he decided to leave Europe because the Nazis were making it unsafe for Jewish citizens to live there.