

Form Perfect Verb Tenses

The perfect tense tells about completed actions, such as what had, has, or will have happened.

The past perfect tense tells about something that had happened before something else. It uses the helping verb had.

Example: By the time we went home for the day, we had collected 79 cans of food for the food pantry.

The present perfect tense tells about something that has happened or has started already. It uses the helping verb has or have.

Example: I have collected rare coins for five years.

The future perfect tense tells about something that will have happened in the future before something else. It uses the helping verb will have.

Example: I will have collected a jar of erasers before the school year is over.

Complete each sentence with the past perfect form of the verb in parentheses.

- 1 My dad _____ (study) the map before we began the hike.
- 2 By the time I looked at my smart watch, I _____ (walk) over 10,000 steps.
- 3 We _____ (hike) the entire trail before lunchtime.

Complete the sentences with the present perfect form of the verbs.

- 4 Addison _____ (write) in her journal every day this week so far.
- 5 Kyle _____ (forget) his favorite pens at school many times.
- 6 I _____ (share) the same room with my sister since we were little.

Complete the sentences with the future perfect form of the verbs.

- 7 When we finish this cookbook, we _____ (make) over 40 delicious recipes.
- 8 At this rate, I _____ (eat) all of my spaghetti by the time our mom sits down to join us.
- 9 By the same time next month, my cousin and I _____ (complete) two cooking classes.