HOMOPHONES

Homophones are words that sound alike but are spelled differently and mean different things. It's easy to see a homophone when they are written down because they are spelled differently. When we hear homophones, we need to pay attention to what is being said so we can understand the homophone's meaning.

In each sentence, there are two homophones. Underline all the homophones.

1. Jonathon baked four cupcakes for the family dinner.
2. Don't forget to write your name on the right side of the paper.
3. "No," Tracy answers. "I do not know the answer to the math question."
4. The bee buzzed happily across the garden, pleased to be near the flowers.
5. I bought two stamps so I could send a package to my brother.
6. Jeremy went to the store to buy his favorite cake, which was by the deli.
7. Gina bought a pair of jeans and a pear hair clip for the dance tonight.

Write a story using as many homophones as you can. When you are finished, underline each pair of homophones.
