...thinking about my background knowledge. ...looking at visual elements in a story, such as an illustration.

...pausing to ask myself questions about what I just read.

I Can Make Inferences By...

..thinking about my personal experiences. ...comparing information from a picture with related information from the text.

...making a connection between what I just read and what I already know about the story.