Ever heard of a haiku? A Haiku is a traditional form of Japanese poetry. What is interesting about haikus are their structure. A haiku has three lines. The first and last lines have 5 syllables. The middle line contains 7 syllables. Using the scene on the other page create your own haikus. Look at the example below for more understanding.

EXAMPLE:

Beyond the mountain, ← 5 SYLLABLES
the green dragon dreams of friends, ← 7 SYLLABLES who can sing and dance. ← 5 SYLLABLES

Looking at the scenario create a legend that tells the story of a dragon. Perhaps it is the legend of a dragon who appears to the sound of music. Use your imagination and be mystical while creating your legend.
