

What do you think?

Erosion and weathering are usually caused by natural processes, but human activities also have a major impact on the amount of erosion that occurs. Can you think of ways that people move or alter land, and why people might want to do this?
