My cat Fluffy is somewhat overweight. She's very playful during the evenings but I cannot get her to exercise more than a few minutes. I am powerless when she looks up at me with her big green eyes and begs for food. While I realize she is fatter than the average cat, I refuse to believe that her health is being affected. I've noticed lately that she is restless when she sleeps; perhaps she is having cat dreams. She's an adorable pet and, in my opinion, the greatest companion.
