

Rachel Carson

Rachel Carson was a scientist who worked to protect the environment. Her book, Silent Spring, is said to have inspired the creation of the Environmental Protection Agency and the modern-day “green” movement.