Having watched the evil sorceress, the prince knew to call out, "Rapunzel, Rapunzel, let down your hair." When the two laid eyes upon one another, they instantly fell in love.

The wife craved the rapunzel plant growing in the sorceress's garden.

One day, a prince riding through the forest heard Rapunzel singing in the tower. He was enchanted by her beautiful voice.

Once there was a husband and a wife who wanted, more than anything, to have a baby. They lived near a garden with beautiful smelling flowers and herbs, but they could not go into the garden because it belonged to a powerful sorceress.

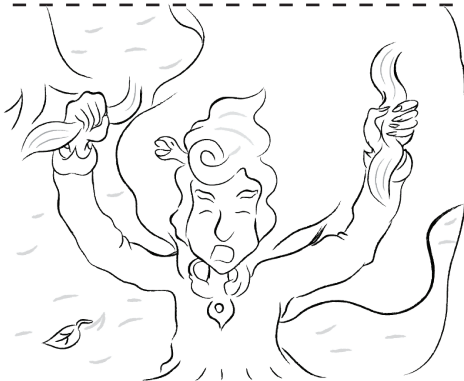

... they heard the sorceress bellow from below.

Rapunzel is hailed as a heroine. She and the prince lived happily ever after.

Rapunzel grabbed the prince's sword and chopped off her long braid of hair, then quickly fastened it to the other iron hook. The prince and Rapunzel escaped while the sorceress attempted to climb up the tower.

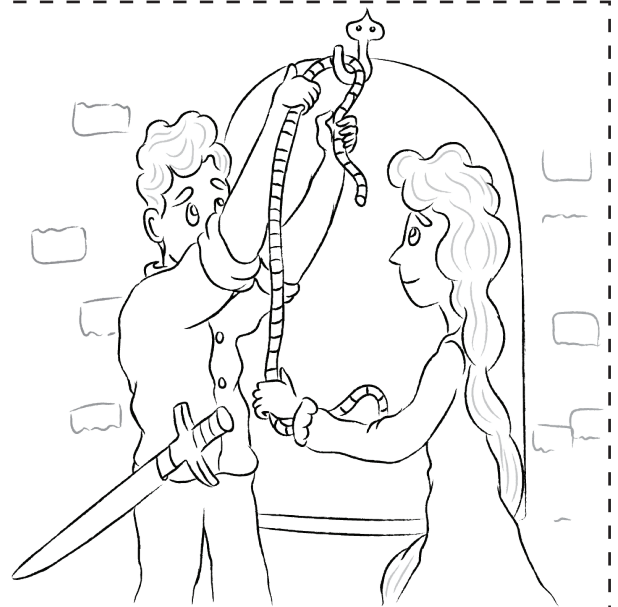

The sorceress realized she had been tricked by Rapunzel and the prince. In anger she screamed, "Rapunzel, without me you will age and die like all mortals!"

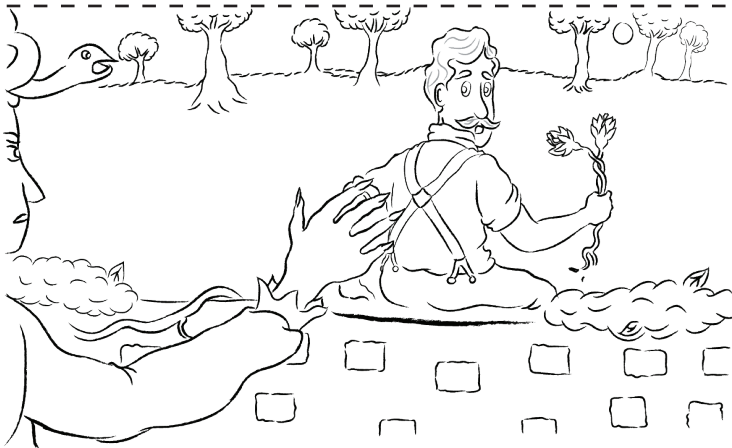

The prince watched as the sorceress called up to Rapunzel to let her hair down. The sorceress then proceeded to climb up the tower.

Rapunzel grew into a beautiful girl with a voice like a bell and a long mane of hair that was soft, yet strong. Her beauty so frightened the sorceress that she locked Rapunzel into a high tower with no stairs or doors.

The prince and Rapunzel decided to flee together. They devised a plan to find a long rope and escape the tower from one of its windows. They were tying the rope on a iron hook when...

The husband entered the garden to steal the rapunzel plant for his wife, but the sorceress was waiting for him. "How dare you steal my precious rapunzel!" she shouted.

"You will pay for what you've done," the sorceress said, "but not with your life. Instead, I will take your child. When she is born, I will appear." True to her word, the sorceress appeared the very moment the baby girl arrived in this world. "I shall call her Rapunzel," she said. And before her parents could even lay eyes on her, the sorceress wrapped the baby up and took her deep into the forest.
