

Endangered Species

Red-Shanked Douc Langur

Pygathrix nemaeus

Viet Nam & Laos

The red-shanked douc is a brightly colored animal. It has red legs from its toes to its hip and a body of gray, with a yellow face and a long white tail.

The douc langur lives in a very tiny area between Vietnam and Laos. This animal spends its whole life in trees.

Deforestation is a huge reason why they are endangered. Locals also hunt these monkeys and sometimes sell them illegally.