

Storyboarding

When people make a movie, they sometimes use storyboarding to plan the story before they film it. When you storyboard something, you draw pictures of the important parts of the story and put them in order.

Make a storyboard of your book. Draw the six most important events in your book's plot in the order they happen.

