

Once there was a small house in the woods.
One day, a mouse came by.
"Little house, little house!
Who lives in this little house?" he called.
Nobody answered, so the mouse made a home there.
One day, a frog hopped by.
"Little house, little house!
Who lives in the little house?" he called.
"I am a mouse," the mouse answered. "Who are you?"
"I am a frog. May I come in?"
"Of course," said the mouse, and they then lived together.

