

One day, a rabbit ran by.

“Little house, little house! Who lives in this little house?” he called.

“I am a mouse,” said the mouse.

“And I am a frog,” said the frog. “Who are you?”

“I am a rabbit,” said the rabbit.

“May I come in?”

“Of course,” said the mouse and frog, and the three then lived together.

