

Thanksgiving Banner

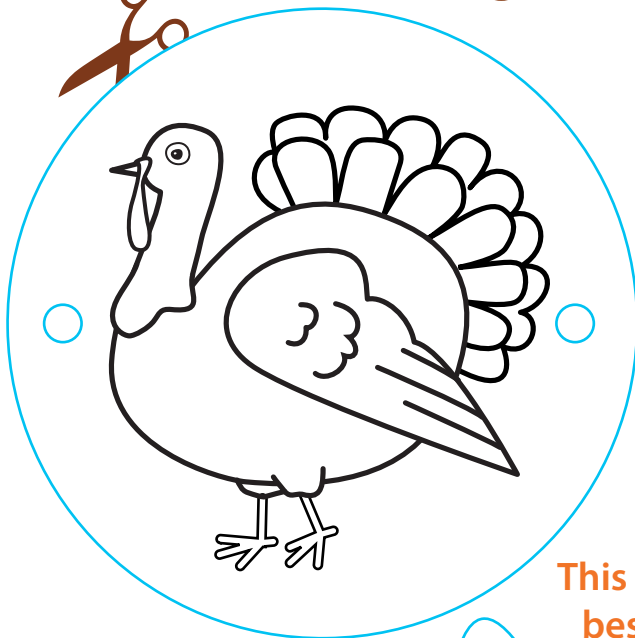

Print, then color in as many pieces as you like. Ask a grown-up to help cut out the shapes.

1

To determine how much string, ribbon, or yarn you will need, place all of the finished pieces in a line and measure. Be sure to add about an inch or two for spacing in between the shapes and several inches at both ends for tying. You will also need a hole punch or a pen. If the shapes slide around too much on the string, you will need some tape.

2

Punch holes where indicated on the shapes. If you don't have a hole punch, ask an adult to make the holes carefully with a ball point pen.

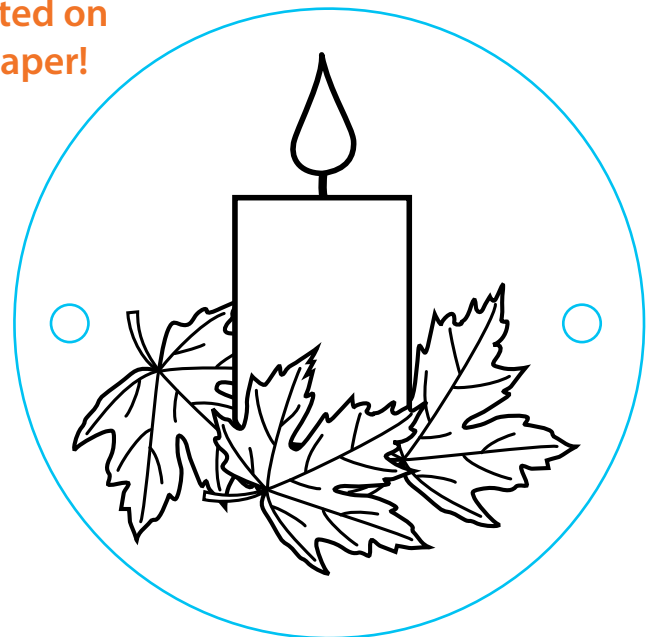

3

Next, thread each shape onto your ribbon keeping the longest sections of ribbon on the back of each shape. If the shapes are loose and don't stay in place on the banner, add a piece of tape to the back of each to secure the ribbon to the paper.

Have a grown-up help tape or tie your banner up in your room or anywhere in the house where there's a space!

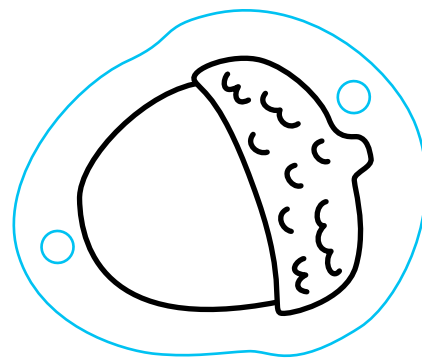

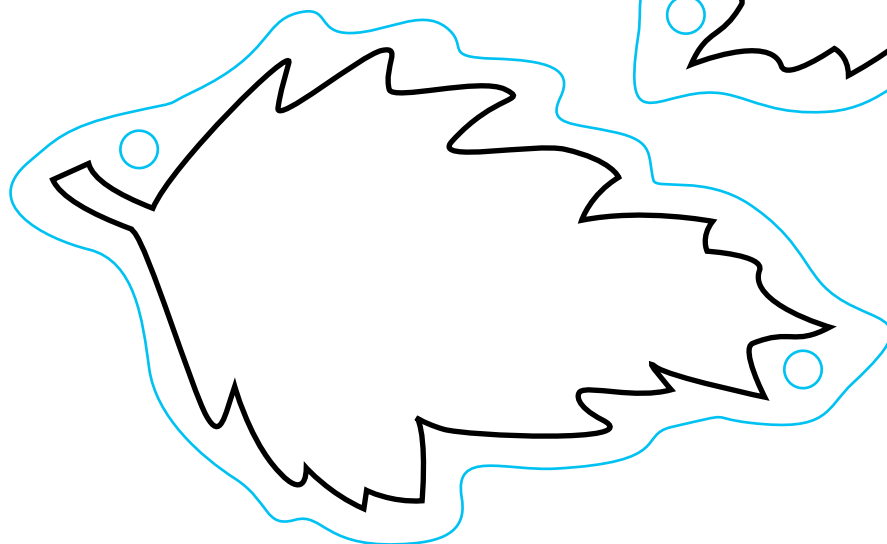

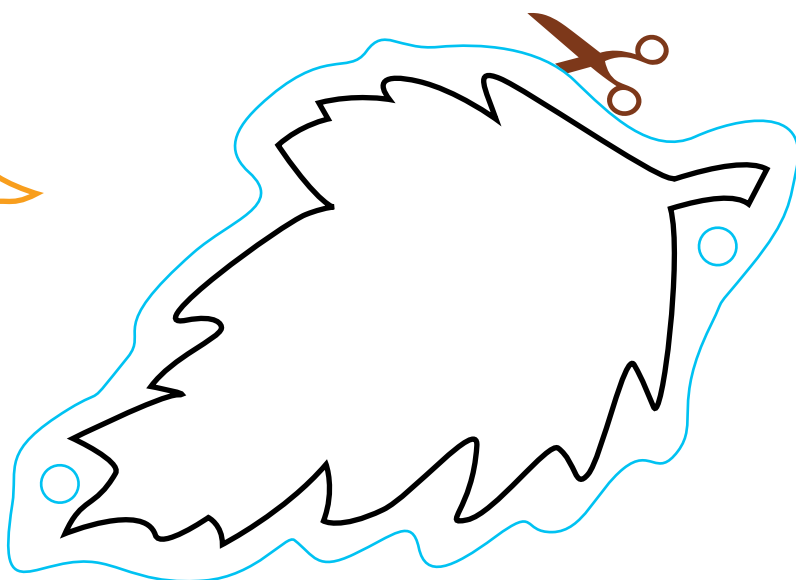

If the weather is good you can even hang it outside!
