

That evening, people from all over China gathered at the beautiful palace to hear the nightingale sing for the Emperor. The whole palace was decorated with thousands of lamps and flowers for the occasion. The nightingale sang so sweetly that tears came to the Emperor's eyes and rolled down his cheeks. He had never heard music as lovely or heart-warming. He decided he must have this bird for himself!