

The Emperor was pleased with his artificial nightingale for a while. But one day as it sang, he heard a “Whizz” inside the bird, and suddenly a spring cracked! “Whir-r-r...” and suddenly the music stopped. And just like that, the fake bird was broken.

For 5 years the city went without any music at all.