

UP AND AWAY!

Henrietta and Hal hopped in a hot air balloon and flew over South America. Follow these clues to find out where they landed.

- They started in Ecuador and sailed east until they reached the largest country in South America.
- From there they floated to the smallest country on that nation's border.
- Then they drifted to the only country that begins with the last letter of the country they had just left.
- Finally, they sailed until they landed in the next country to the west.
