

Whose Who's

Homophones are words that sound the same, but have different meanings.

Whose - Possessive, belonging to who?

Who's- A contraction of who and is

Write WHOSE or WHO'S in the spaces below

1. My two best friends and I were walking home from school when we heard a rustling noise in the bushes. We peeked in and saw a small brown dog. "_____ dog could he be?" asked John. We looked up and down the street, and saw an older man.
2. "Do you know _____ dog this is?" I asked him, but the man shook his head no.
3. The little dog was cute, but a little scruffy. He looked up at us with frightened eyes. "_____ going to take care of you, little guy?" I asked, petting him gently.
4. "We'll take turns taking care of him until we find its owner," Tom said. "I'll keep him tonight. _____ going to take him on Saturday?"
5. "I will!" said Michael. So it was settled. But we still had to find out _____ puppy it was. We made "Found Dog" posters, and tacked them up around the neighborhood.
6. Two days later a woman and a little girl came to our house. "This is Rebecca, the girl _____ dog ran away," said the woman. "_____ responsible for putting up the posters? I'd like to give them a reward."
7. The little girl cradled the wiggly puppy in her arms, her face beaming with joy. "Thank you, but we don't need a reward," I said. "I don't know _____ happier, Rebecca or the puppy!"

Answers: 1. whose 2. whose 3. who's 4. who's 5. whose 6. whose, who's 7. who's